Cover Letter

---

DATE

August 22, 2017

To Whom It May Concern,

Thank you for the allowing me the opportunity to provide you with this letter and my resume. I would like to tell you a little bit about myself and to offer my abilities as a potential match with your needs.

I am actively seeking full time employment with a very strong desire to continue and expand my career as a web designer. I am looking for an opportunity that allows me to utilize my front-end development, design, and planning skills coupled with my knowledge of audio and video. I believe that I may be an asset to any company. I have been working for the last 18 years to further my career by creating business opportunities for myself and others. During this time, I have leveraged my services to create improved value for my clients by listening and keeping my finger on the pulse of what's new and changing on the web. This has been one of my major success tools in creating online media, along with hard work and perseverance.

With that said, please know that I recognize the value of any full-time opportunity that you may have to offer me, versus remaining self-employed. I am committed to becoming a successful employee. I am excited by the possibilities that may lay ahead with your organization and deeply respect the history of hard work that it must have been built upon. I am confident that my experience working in the Los Angeles media industry would make me a strong candidate for your company.

SINCERELY,

Joshua Kincheloe

Achievements

ColdSteel.com
Project Manager | Programmer | Front-End Dev | Graphic Designer
Increased sales by over 200%. Created a work flow between their site, Great Plains Accounting Software and their shipping department that removed the need for 99% of their previous data entry.

Worked Seamlessly With Fortune 500's
Front-End Developer At Lenmar.com
Worked with Best Buy, Walmart, Target, Staples, Office Max, Office Depot and more to bring a shopping experience on every device to their websites with drop-shipping and their own stock.

Raticator Wireless Rat Traps
Project Manager | Front-End Developer | Interface Designer
Created a wireless rat trap for Blue-Tooth and enterprise clients with Raticator.com. I did all of the project management and Interface design as well as the database architecture in this case. This was a hardware/software project and it works flawlessly. Thousands of traps can be tracked from a mesh network developed by Raticator with my work.

Ran My Own Business
I do everything and then some
Let's face it this is hard work. It's 20 hour days managing multiple projects and teams in multiple countries to get a product created that makes money 24 hours a day. Yeah I do that. I love it.

My Tools

REFERENCES

● Eric Helmes - Long Life Friend
Eric manages the mail room in the largest law firm in downtown Cincinnati. We've been friends for 19 years and my man is amazing at what he does. He's also my child's Godfather.

Phone: (513) 227-3902

● Olga Berestova
I worked with Olga at Lenmar.com and she was the amazing .Net programmer for the battery tender project that spanned so many large companies.

Last Jobs

2013-Now JK Dreaming Self Employed
Owner
My own business. I have a client base that I maintain regularly since I left Lenmar.com in 2013. I've made a lot of headway here building sites for a vast group of different people. Apps have come into play too and I've enjoyed building natively and with hybrid frameworks like IONIC.

2011-2013 Lenmar.com
Senior Front End Dev
I built the responsive framework for the battery tender from scratch. I worked with Target, Best Buy, RadioShack, Ace Hardware and more. Maintaining the front-end for contracted fortune 500 companies was my job on a .Net/Magento platform..
